

THE HISPANIC LEADERSHIP DEVELOPMENT FELLOWSHIP PROGRAM

Connecting Hispanic graduate students to careers within the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services

Want to make a difference in public health?

The Hispanic Leadership Development Fellowship Program, sponsored by the Office of Minority Health, U.S. Department of Health and Human Services (HHS), in partnership with the National Hispanic Medical Association (NHMA) and the Hispanic Association of Colleges and Universities (HACU), is offering graduate students and recent graduates a paid one-year leadership fellowship to accelerate their careers within HHS and the federal sector.

Ten fellows will be chosen to work on-site at the HHS office in Washington, D.C. with at least two rotations at different agencies within HHS. Fellows will work one on one with a senior-level staff mentor and will receive experience in federal-level work on the ground to generate positive health outcomes for underserved communities at the national level.

Applicants for the Hispanic Leadership Development Fellowship Program must be a current graduate student or have received a graduate degree within two years of the program start date.
